DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of species in the reply filed on 5/30/2006 is acknowledged.
2. Claim 7 is withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected species, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 5/30/2006. This claim does not read on the elected fuel species of ethers.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1, 4-6, and 8-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Diede (US 6695938) in view of Thompson (US 5621156).

Diede discloses a hypergolic bipropellant comprising oxidizers, reactive metals such as lithium borohydride dissolved in amines and ethers which also act as fuels (col. 4 and 5). Diede does not disclose the use of a gelling agent.

Thompson teaches that it is known to use silica gel as a gelling agent with a hypergolic propellant (col. 2, lines 33-40).

It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the gelling agent with the composition of Diede since

Thompson suggests that gelling agents are useful with hypergolic propellants in order to enable them to withstand high g forces.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Diede reference clearly discloses lithium borohydride dissolved in solvents such as hydrocarbons and amines. The reference further indicates that these can serve as fuels. Since Diede uses amines, this meets the sensitizer limitation in claim 1.

In response to applicant's argument that the reason for combining Diede and Thompson is not sufficient, the fact that applicant has recognized another advantage which would flow naturally from following the suggestion of the prior art cannot be the basis for patentability when the differences would otherwise be obvious. See Ex parte Obiaya, 227 USPQ 58, 60 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1985).

In response to applicant's argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, Thompson suggests that using gelling agents with hypergolic fuels enables them to withstand high g forces.

Conclusion

Art Unit: 1755

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
